ADMIRAL STRATTON

No educational institution has changed more both in its purpose and the content of its curriculum than the public high school. From the strictly college-preparatory, its purpose has broadened until now a high school education is considered essential for all professions and for all forms of business as well.

To meet this demand the content of its course of study has been vastly increased, so that in the larger schools a student may prepare for almost any trade or form of business.

Whatever the purpose, it seems to us the high school should do two things. It should teach youth to think logically and to express their thoughts clearly and forcefully. Perhaps in recent years stress has been placed on expression, but the power to see the relation of cause and effect is very important.

Thinking is laborious and is distasteful to many; however, if one is to rise above the masses and become a leader, he must be able and willing to think things through.

May Webster High always stand for these two essentials of education.

The general tendency of the work of the Board for the year 1931-32 has been toward more careful financial management and budgeting to meet changing conditions. It became quite evident that the amount of home building in Webster had declined almost to the vanishing point and that the yearly increase in revenue available to the Board from this source could no longer be counted upon. Despite this, the pupil load was steadily on the increase, and the problem of meeting this increased demand with a declining revenue was the task that commanded their major attention.

Coupled with this were the further developments of plans to increase the efficiency of the schools, both physically and educationally. The greatest progress has been along educational lines. Credit for this advancement is due to the superintendent and his staff and the fine co-operation of the teachers. Their loyalty and professional ability have been ably demonstrated. To secure a continuity of future development along these lines, Mr. Goslin has been retained for the district under a three-year contract.

During the year a gymnasium was added to Douglas School, which has already proved to be one of the best investments toward social betterment the district has ever made. This year also marked the beginning of the co-operative department of visual education established by the school districts of St. Louis County. Lunchrooms have been improved and an outdoor gymnasium added to the high school. A night school for the negro community was also begun.

Principally, however, we have blazed the trail toward greater economies during 1932-33, without impairing the efficiency of the schools. The community has secured during 1931-32 greater returns for its school tax than ever before and bids fair to receive a still greater return in 1932-33.

The men and women connected with the administration and supervision of a large high school, such as ours, share an exceedingly responsible relationship to that school. The rapidly increasing enrollment and the necessarily increased complexity of the educational machinery greatly enhance this obligation. The administrators exercise leadership with the community and with the community's representatives, the members of the Board of Education. They must also furnish professional leadership for the teachers, and so subordinate non-essential activities, as to allow worthy interests to challenge the pupils' intelligence and employ their time and effort. The administration must furnish both leadership and guidance to the pupils, leadership in a choice of correct spiritual values of life, and guidance in a choice of curriculum that will best fit the students to render as adults the maximum service to their fellows. The responsibility of the school has been well defined by a noted educator as "the task of making a life as well as making a living."

Webster Groves has long been noted for the many excellent qualities of its high school. It is the intent of the present administrative staff to project these fine qualities into the future and to constantly develop additional opportunities. In so doing, the taxpayer or patron must be assured of adequate returns for the money expended. The freedom and quality of faculties must be guarded. Finally the school must be child centered to the extent that all decisions be determined by a thorough study of the students' ambitions and potentialities and by consideration of what is best for these students as a group and as individuals.

Since a boy cannot be elected to membership of the W club until he has won a letter, this organization is one of the most difficult in the school to join. Hence a student who belongs to the W club should be very proud of his achievement.

The W club has complete control of the awarding of letters for participation in sports. It regulates the requirements which a boy must meet in order to achieve his letter in any sport. In order to obtain a letter in football this year the player had to play in part of sixteen quarters. In basketball the athlete had to take part in at least sixty per cent of the total number of games to win a letter. In track the participant had to make a certain number of points in meets, while in baseball he had to play a certain percentage of the total number of games. The boy also had to live up to training rules if he expected a W. If a student passed all these requirements, he then received his reward provided that he had a recommendation from the coach.

After a lapse of one year the traditional W club banquet was held. It was held one Saturday night at the Hotel Melbourne. After dinner inspiring speeches were given to the team by coaches F. F. Gaines and C. A. Roberts. After these speeches the group was addressed by Joe Lintzenech, a former football star of Webster High School. Following the after-dinner talks the election of the captain for 1933 was held. Charles Burgess was chosen for this honor.

In answer to Coach Charles A. Roberts' first call for football candidates, there was a turnout of five lettermen and many promising newcomers. After the first few hot weeks of practice the squad was picked and began its work in earnest.

The 1932 season was opened when Webster took the field against Farmington on the latter's field. Webster, playing very good football for early in the season, not only held Farmington scoreless, but also scored thirteen hard-earned points to win the first game. The game was marked by the excellent playing of the new members of the team as well as by that of the veterans. After this game the prospects for a successful season seemed very bright.

In the second game of the season Webster was host to East St. Louis. Hoping to avenge its defeat of last year, Webster played excellent football during the first half and led at half-time, 7—0. However, East St. Louis displayed a fine passing attack in the last half, and this, aided by the mediocre playing of the Webster eleven, brought about a complete change. When the final whistle blew, Webster was on the short end of a 15—7 score.

Beaumont was Webster's third scheduled opponent and was reputed to have a very good team. The Robertsmen started the game with some powerful line plays which boded ill for Beaumont, but when the team got within striking distance of Beaumont's goal line, they could not put the ball over. Time and again Webster would approach Beaumont's goal line, only to have Beaumont punt the ball out of danger. On one of his kicks from behind the goal line, the Beaumont kicker stepped out of the end zone, giving Webster two points. These points later turned out to be the deciding margin, the final score being 2—0 in favor of Webster.

Saturday following the Beaumont game, the Websterites, accompanied by a throng of enthusiastic rooters, journeyed to U. City to play the team coached by Coach Muhl. The teams appeared to be rather evenly matched, and it looked for a time as if the game would end in a scoreless tie. Suddenly Caskey of U. City wove his way through the whole team for a fifty-yard run and a touchdown. This was the only scoring in the game.

On the following Friday the Webster athletes engaged Wellston on Webster's field. Webster was favored to beat Wellston easily, but when the game started something was lacking, and the two teams battled rather evenly for three quarters. Toward the end of the game the Robertsmen suddenly began to play good football, and starting near their own goal line marched directly up the field. During this advance Carr was in the limelight, constantly plunging through the line for good gains. Only the final whistle kept Webster from scoring, and the game ended in a scoreless tie.

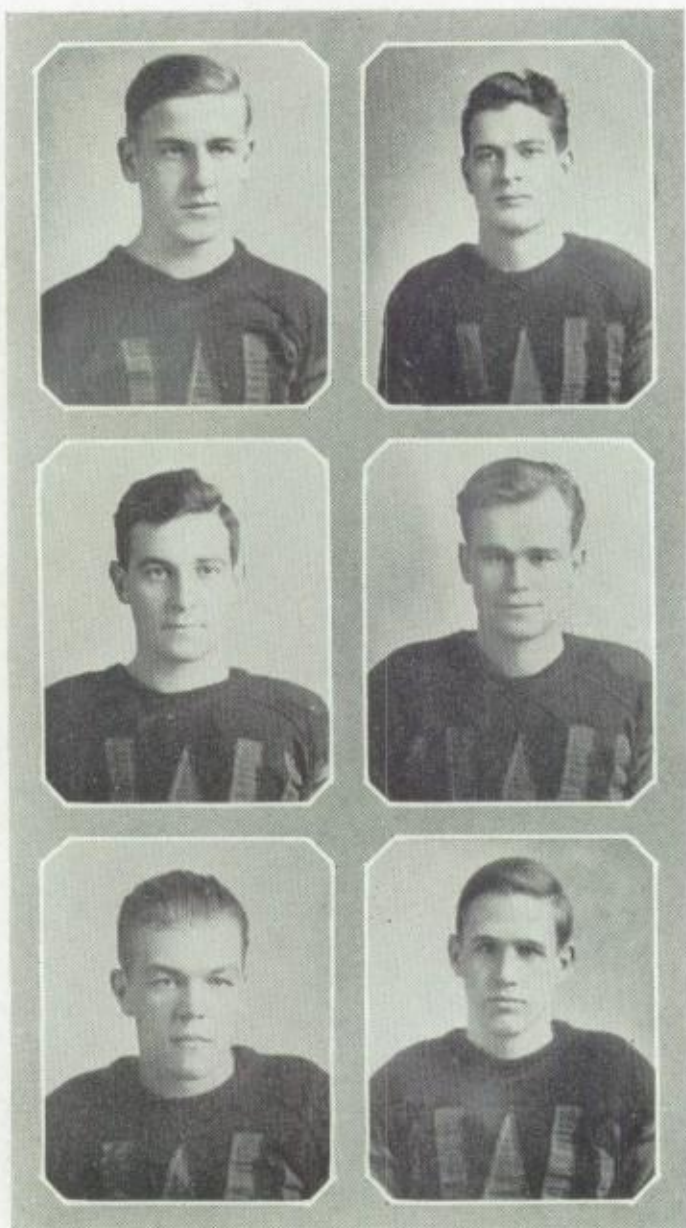

The sixth game of the year was played between Webster and Clayton at Clayton. In the first half Webster gained a great amount of yardage, but could not put the ball over. The score at the end of the first half was 0—0. In the last quarter Clayton scored a touchdown on a long forward pass. When the game ended, Webster had less than 10 yards to go for a touchdown, and if the game had lasted a few minutes more, the team would probably have tied the score. As it was, Clayton caused one of the biggest surprises of the year by defeating Webster 7—0. In this game Burgess was the only consistent ground gainer, time and again running off-tackle or around end for good gains.

On Saturday, November 14, Webster was host to Maplewood. For the first time since early season, the Webster team played excellent football. Maplewood, the acknowledged favorite, could score only 6 points, and this was scored in the last quarter. The final score was 6—0 in favor of Maplewood. This game was marked by the excellent playing of the line, which checked Maplewood against overwhelming odds.

In the Kirkwood game the teams battled near mid-field in a sea of mud. Although Kirkwood, since they were undefeated, ruled as the top-heavy favorite, neither team was able to score, and the game ended in a 0—0 deadlock. During this game Webster had no offensive stars, but on the defense, Morey played a very fine game. Frequently he stopped Kirkwood plays before they reached the line of scrimmage.

No doubt the football season was a disappointment to many, but anyone who followed the team will testify that the players always fought to the end of the game, no matter how badly they were outclassed.

FOOTBALL LETTERMEN

ROY GREENE, Q. B. (Captain)

BILL BREEN, C.

STERLING SMITH, R. E.

ARTHUR DeSALME, L. H. B.

CHARLES CARR, F. B.

JACK MOELLER—Last year Jack made his football letter playing tackle, but this year he changed to end and played the position brilliantly. He was exceptionally fast on getting down under punts and was always feared by the opposing runners. Many times he was called upon to do the punting.

ROY GREENE (Captain)—Roy was quarterback and made very few mistakes in calling plays. He was the team's best punter, and often his punting put the team out of danger. He played his best game in the last game of the season against Kirkwood.

BILL BREEN—Bill was a new man this year, and the experience he gained will greatly add to the success of next year's team. He made very few bad passes from center. Even in games played on a very muddy field, Bill passed the ball very accurately.

STERLING SMITH—"Chuck" was one of the deadliest tacklers on the team. Repeatedly his "shoe string" tackling put an end to the opponents' advance up the field. "Chuck" was a wizard on the receiving end of forward passes, catching many of them that seemed impossible to catch.

ARTHUR DeSALME—"Art" is one of the few players who will have a chance to star again at Webster next year, as he will be back all year. He was a good ground-gainer on the offense and a fine player on the defense.

CHARLES CARR—Charlie was the surest tackler on the team. Very few opponents dodged or even fooled Carr. His specialty was backing up the line on the defense. Often he downed an opponent before he reached the line of scrimmage, there stopping many of the opposition's advances. His hard line plunging was also a feature of many games.

GEORGE WESTRUP, R. T.

CECIL MOREY, L. H. B.

CARL BECKER, L. G.

JUNIOR SOLOMON, R. G.

GEORGE WESTRUP—George (weighing close to 200 pounds) was the largest man on the team. His size was a big aid in stopping line plays before they got started. Not only was George a star on the defense, but oftentimes he gained a great amount of ground on off tackle plays.

CECIL MOREY—"Precious things come in small packages." This is very true in "Cece's" case. Although he was the smallest player on the team, he was rated throughout the county as a good defense man. In the Kirkwood game the fast Kirkwood backs could not get started around "Cece's" end.

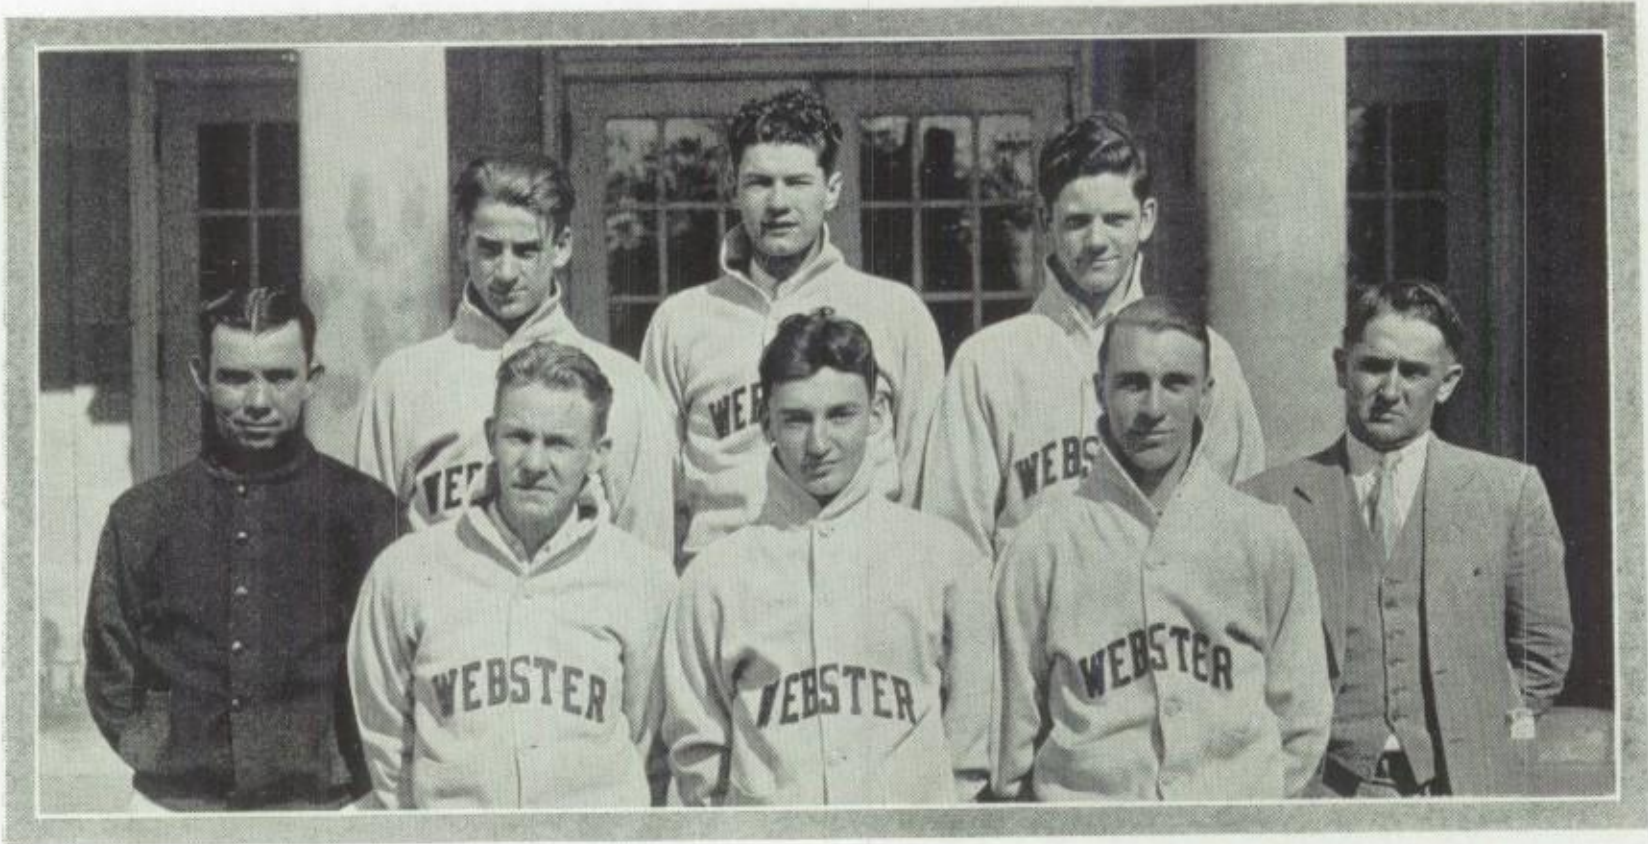

CARL BECKER—"Gorilla" was known for his ability to "knife" through the line and break up plays before they reached the line of scrimmage. Carl was one of the scrappiest players on the team. His all-around good playing earned him a place on the all-county team.

JUNIOR SOLOMON—"June" was playing his first year on the squad, and quickly demonstrated his ability to the entire school. Although he was very small, he was a stone wall on defense. He was lost to the team in the middle of the year when he moved to California.

CHARLES BURGESS—Charlie is the captain-elect. He was the fastest man on the team and was Webster's only consistent ground gainer on end runs. His fast open-field running was the feature of many games. He played his best game of the year against Clayton.

DON HENDERSON—Don was the second largest man on the team, and his weight aided him a great deal in effectively playing a tackle position. He gained a great amount of ground on off-tackle plays. His "never-say-die" spirit was a great asset to the team.

The capable coaching of Coaches Charles A. Roberts and F. F. Gaines developed an excellent team out of untrained material. Only one letterman was back from the preceding season, and the outlook for a successful season was very dim. However, the untiring efforts of the coaches produced a very formidable five.

The team started the season in the right way by defeating Central 32-22. Considering the fact that Webster had had but two weeks' practice, the team played a very good game. As the season progressed the team improved greatly, until toward the end of the year Webster had one of the best teams in the state. Perhaps the best game, judged not only by good playing but also by public interest, was the second Maplewood game. Although Webster was behind 16-5 in the first quarter and trailed throughout the whole game, the team rallied in the closing period, tied the score, and won in the extra period 26-24. The outstanding characteristic of this year's team was its ability to win a game after being far behind. The team was known throughout the district as "the team that never admits defeat". Time and again the team would overcome an overwhelming lead and would win in the closing minutes.

The offensive stars of the team were "Big Jim" Heising and Captain "Chet" Payne. These two players scored two-thirds of the team's total points, scoring a total of 322 points between them. The sensational shots of this pair pulled the team through many a difficult battle and lowered the morale of the opposing team.

Webster lost but 8 out of 22 games. This includes not only the regularly scheduled games, but also the games played in the St. Louis District Tournament and those in the State High School Tournament at Columbia. In the District Tournament Webster won three games, losing by only two points to the ultimate winners. In the State High School Tournament Webster won one game and lost two.

This year's team was helped considerably by the fact that the second team was far above the average. A great battle resulted whenever the two teams got together, and this practice helped to give the first team a very successful season. The entire second team and one letterman from this year's squad will be back next year, so the outlook for a successful season is excellent.

*First Row, Left to Right—B. Breen, Capt. S. Smith, L. Pechmann, H. Anderson, P. Peterson, D. MacKeen, B. Ebling, B. Prehn.
Second Row, Left to Right—I. Hoffmann, A. Kotovsky, C. Herzog, C. Schliemann, S. Dorsey, J. McLagan, A. Vesper, K. Robbins,
M. Hoffmann.
Top Row, Left to Right—Coach F. Gaines, H. Plaisance, R. Whitney, R. Brockman, V. Heidinger, C. Wanner, H. Carabina, J. Hilton, C. Waldon.*

Coach Gaines had a better turnout for baseball this year than he has had in many years. Six lettermen, as well as many substitutes from last year's nine, reported for practice.

The pitching was handled by Kotovsky, a letterman, and by McLagan and Brockman. In the infield Carabina at second, Smith at short, and Anderson at third were all returning lettermen. First base was played by Prehn, Brockman and McLagan. Breen and Ebling divided the catching. In the outfield were Peterson and Schliemann, newcomers, and MacKeen and Wanner, lettermen. These players made up an excellent team. The leading hitters of the team were MacKeen, Carabina, Captain Smith, and Anderson.

Webster started the season by losing a hard game to Roosevelt 7-6. (At this writing Roosevelt has not yet been defeated, and this game was the closest game which their team had played.) So Webster ought to be duly proud of this game.

In the next game Webster defeated McKinley in a hard-fought game, 7-5. The feature of the game was the great pitching of Kotovsky in the five innings in which he worked.

The next game, in which Webster defeated Ritenour, 10-2, was marked by the brilliant pitching of McLagan, who twirled the whole game.

On April 12, Webster lost to C. B. C. by a score of 8-4. The game was much closer than the score indicates.

In the two following games Webster defeated Clayton 11-5, and Hancock 10-2. In the latter game Whitney made his debut on the mound and pitched an excellent game.

Webster then lost the all-important game to Wellston and dropped from a tie for the lead to third position. They still occupy this position as this goes to press.

The senior track squad this year possessed some of the greatest individual stars that any track team at Webster has ever had. Arthur DeSalme, this year's captain, Charles Burgess, and Warren Kelly repeatedly starred in the javelin, 440-yard run, and high jump, respectively. This trio was constantly breaking records, and their individual performances made up for the deficiencies of the rest of the squad.

The senior track team had two dual meets this year. The first was with Roosevelt. DeSalme, Kelly, Burgess, Conrad, and Carr turned in good performances for Webster.

In their last dual meet Webster lost to University City. DeSalme, besides taking second in the discus, threw the javelin over one hundred and seventy feet to far surpass the district records. Kelly cleared the bar at 5 feet 10 and 1/2 inches in the high jump to win the event easily. Burgess, ran the quarter mile in 53 seconds and thus set another district and county record.

In the state indoor meet Webster did not show up as well as expected. Kelly, in the high-jump, was the only individual who placed for Webster, and the medley relay team came in third.

The biggest meet of the year, was the Maplewood relays. In this meet Webster tied for fourth place. The whole meet was run off during the rain, so that the records made were few and far between. Kelly again won the high jump, and DeSalme won second in the javelin and third in the discus.

In the district meet Webster won second place. Conrad, Kelly, DeSalme, and Burgess won places in the high hurdles, high jump, javelin, and the 440, respectively.

The junior track team for the first time in many years was made up almost entirely of veterans. The outstanding competitors were Wright, Gibson, Timberlake, Simpson, Newman, and Miller. Frank Wright constantly starred in the half mile. He has not been defeated in the junior mile, nor is it probable that he will be defeated in the one meet remaining.

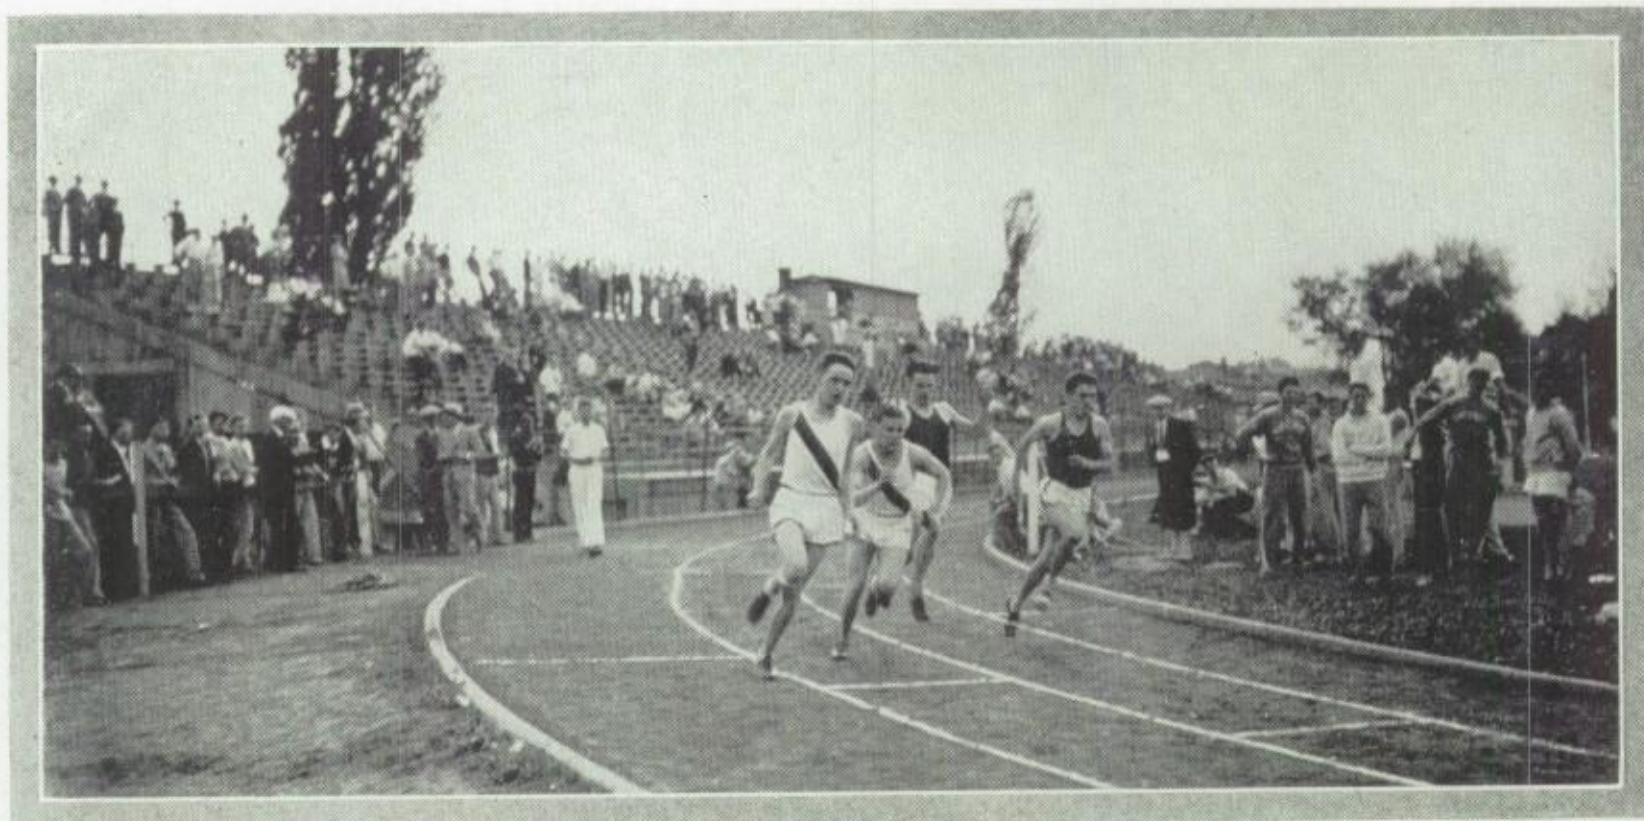

In their first meet the juniors lost by a close score to Roosevelt. Wright won the half-mile in two minutes and eight seconds. Gibson threw the shot over fifty-three feet. Timberlake won the broad jump with a leap of over nineteen feet. Other outstanding performers were Miller, Newman, Foote, and Reichardt.

In the second dual meet of the year Webster lost to University City on Webster's track. This meet showed that the juniors, although they do not have an excellent team, do have a well balanced one.

In the Maplewood relays there was only one event for juniors, the junior medley relay, which consisted of a 440-yard run, a 110-yard run, a 220-yard run, and an 880-yard run. Chapman, Fuchs, Simpson, and Wright ran in the order named. A great finish by Wright, along with the excellent running of the other three, won the race easily for Webster.

The Webster cindermen next entered the district meet. In this meet Wright, Simpson, and Gibson, all won their events. The first two named also surpassed the district records in their events. Foote obtained a second in the javelin, while Miller tied for second in the pole vault, and Newman tied for third in the high jump. The total gave Webster second in the meet.

STATE TRACK

Conrad and Burgess in Relay

The state track meet was held in Columbia, Missouri, on Saturday, May 7. The high schools were divided into three divisions according to the size of the schools, so that a school with a very small enrollment would not have to compete with a school much larger than itself. Webster was entered in the group of Class A high schools, and won fourth place in the division.

As was expected the star of the meet was Maplewood's Jimmy Owen, who won the 100-yard dash at the national high school meet last year. Owen broke the national inter-scholastic record for the 100-yard dash, running the distance in 9.7 seconds. Although at this writing the record has not been made official, the time will probably remain, as the race was run under ideal conditions.

In the meet Webster carried off two firsts. De Sa'me shattered the Class A record when he threw the javelin 176 feet, 8 inches, and this mark was within a few feet of a state record. Kelly surpassed all contestants in the high jump, winning the event at 5 feet, 10 inches. These two boys are only juniors, and great performances are expected of them next year.

Burgess had the honor of obtaining Webster's only second place. He won his heat in the 440, but the winner in the other heat slightly bettered his time, so Burgess had to be content with a second.

Besides these places the Robertsmen obtained one third place and two fourths. The medley relay team ran an excellent race to realize the third, while Conrad placed fourth in the high hurdles, and De Salme placed fourth in the discus. Webster scored a total of 17 points and lost third place to St. Joseph by only $\frac{1}{2}$ of a point. Coach Roberts deserves to be complimented for the excellent showing his track teams have made ever since he has been coach at Webster.

The Girls' Athletic Association of Webster High School began the school year of 1931-32 with the traditional annual sophomore rush, given for the new girls to become acquainted with the older girls and their activities. The sophomores attending the party were in costume. Dancing and singing acts furnished the entertainment after which refreshments were served. The first prize for the best costume was awarded to June Pentland, dressed as a gypsy.

On March 23, the G. A. A. was represented by fifteen girls at the annual play day held at University City High School. The club elected the representatives who, with girls from other schools in the county, helped to furnish an enjoyable day of sports and entertainment.

The big event of the year was the May Fete, held on May 14. A colonial theme was chosen in honor of the Bi-Centennial Celebration of Washington's birthday. The dances and costumes were in accordance with the period; the May Pole with its tri-colored streamers of red, white, and blue presented a lovely picture.

The coronation of the May Queen, Miss Dorothy Aigler, took place amid this scene and before an audience of several hundred. The queen is chosen by popular vote of the girls of the school. Only senior girls active in athletics are eligible for the honor. The queen was assisted by four special maids, the Misses Judy Harkey, Mary Stobie, Viola Comfort, and Helen Flint.

At the close of the season the annual G. A. A. banquet was held in the school cafeteria. Following an idea started the previous year, tables were reserved for the fathers of the girls as well as for their mothers. The banquet was served by boys chosen by the members of the varsity hockey and the varsity basketball teams. After the banquet supper, letters and numerals were awarded to the girls who had earned them during the 1931-32 season.

This year the varsity hockey team, which was composed of the members of the senior team, was scheduled for only four games. These games were scheduled with Kirkwood, Wellston, Principia, and Clayton. The girls were undefeated in the first three games, winning one and tying two, but the game with Clayton was not played because of bad weather.

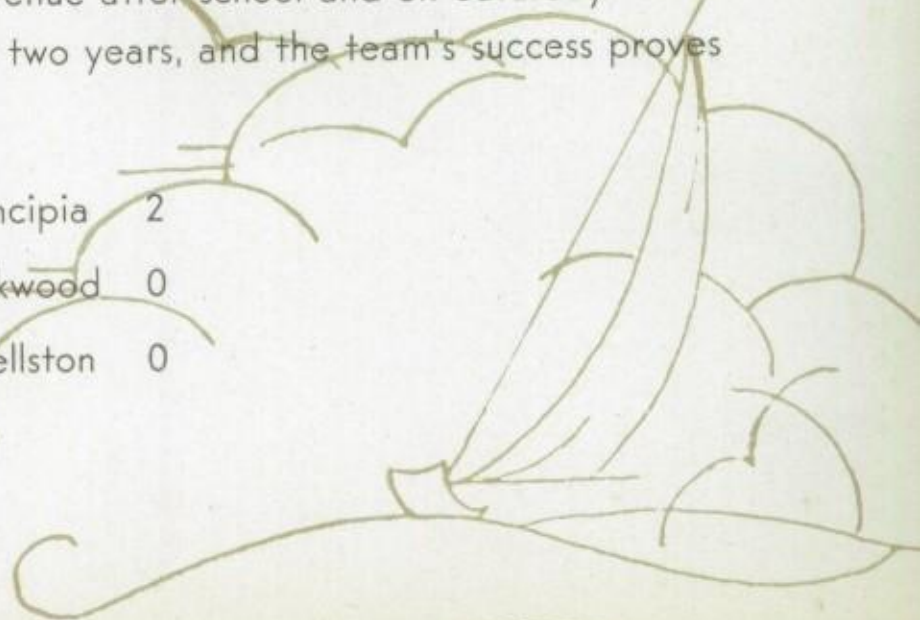

The Kirkwood eleven held our players to a scoreless tie. The Wellston-Webster game ended in a 3-0 score in favor of Webster. The team went to the Principia field and for the first time in several years was able to hold its own against that formidable team and tie them with a pair of goals for each team.

The team under Mary Stobie's leadership was composed of: Judy Harkey, Helen Flint, Dorothy Aigler, Viola Comfort, Lois Ragan, Helen Stearns, Nancy Smith, Marie Duenke, Helen Coyne, Marjorie Stephens, and Mary Stobie.

Dorothy Aigler and Helen Flint were chosen as left half back and right wing, respectively, of the "All Star County Hockey Team", consisting of eleven of the best hockey players in the county public schools. This team dropped its annual game with the "All Star Private School Team" by a score of 4-0.

The girls practiced at Forty Acres on Elm Avenue after school and on Saturday mornings. Miss Roark has trained the hockey team for two years, and the team's success proves her to be an able coach.

CLASS HOCKEY

The class hockey teams have worked hard and deserve a great deal of credit, for out of the six games played, only one was lost. This game was lost to Normandy, which has one of the best teams in this district.

The senior team played its two games with University City and Normandy. University City was defeated by a score of 1-0. Normandy was held to a tie, the score being 1-1.

The junior games were played with Kirkwood and Normandy. Kirkwood lost by a score of 1-0; Normandy defeated our team with a score of 5-0.

The sophomores also played two games, one with Clayton, the other with University City. The Clayton game was won at 5-0, but the University City game was a tie of 2-2.

The senior, junior, and sophomore class teams were led by Mary Stobie, Jane Erganian, and Phyllis Way, respectively.

The members of the senior team are: Dorothy Aigler, Viola Comfort, Helen Coyne, Marie Duenke, Judy Harkey, Helen Flint, Nancy Smith, Mary Stobie, Helen Stearns, Marjorie Stephens, and Lois Ragan.

The junior team consists of: Arley Maud Davidson, Margaret Becker, Lois Bohn, Margaret Bowering, Blanche Cable, Jane Erganian, Mary Ferguson, Erdwine Holekamp, Ray Van Benthuyzen, Edith Wilson, and Martha Zell.

The sophomore team is made up of: Myrna Held, Marian Hoener, Lovella Doyle, Betty Crippen, Helen Homan, Mary Painter, Mabel Jane O'Brien, June Pentland, Phyllis Way, Betty Walcott, Mary Helen Shands, Jane Setzer, and Harriet McGhee.

Prospects for next season seem bright as the junior team will probably form the basis of the senior team and the sophomore team, the junior. It is, however, hard to state what kind of a team the sophomores are expected to have as its material will remain unknown until the opening of the hockey season in the fall.

The varsity basketball team came through the season with a record of three victories, one tie and one defeat.

In the first game Mary Stobie sank nine field goals and a brace of free throws to help tie Ferguson 25—25. Next Ritenour was downed 32—26. The girls then defeated Hancock with a score of 29—22. Their only defeat was in the next game with the powerful University City sextet. In this game Webster lost 40—27. Kirkwood bowed to Webster by a score of 44—28 in the varsity's last game of the year, which was for most of the girls their last high school game.

The team was made up of the following: Forwards, Mary Stobie, Helen Flint, Judy Harkey, Claire Muther, Betty Crippen, Mary Helen Shands and Helen Homan; guards, Helen Stearns, Helen Coyne, Martha Shewman, Erdwine Holekamp, Jane Erganian and Nancy Smith. Helen Stearns was their captain.

Mary Stobie and Helen Flint were high-scorers for the year, collecting 87 and 63 points, respectively. Helen Stearns was perhaps the outstanding guard, while Nancy Smith with versatility played both guard and forward well.

The class basketball teams have had a very good season. Out of thirteen games they lost only two. Both of these were dropped by the juniors.

The senior team was ably captained by Helen Stearns. The members of the team were: Forwards, Mary Stobie, Helen Flint, Claire Muther, Marie Duenke, Marjorie Stephens and Judy Harkey; Guards, Helen Stearns, Nancy Smith, Dorothy Aigler, Helen Coyne, and Virginia Seele.

The Yellow Jacket Club is the most active girls' organization in Webster Groves High School. The aim of the group is to promote and to carry out its high ideals of scholarship, sportsmanship, and school spirit.

One of the outstanding characteristics of the club is its enthusiasm, which is contagious and spreads quickly throughout the crowd. The orange and black jackets are also pep-inspiring.

At the beginning of the school year the organization was left without a sponsor, but it soon decided on Miss Roark to fill the vacancy.

Bad weather prevented the customary picnic-hike in the fall; so the initiation was held at the home of the president. One of the members delightfully entertained the group with singing and ukelele-playing.

It is interesting to note that the Yellow Jackets have been as faithful in their attendance of out-of-town games as those played at home.

During the year the club was invited to a surprise party given for one of the members by her mother.

New members were taken into the organization at the spring initiation. After a busy and interesting baseball and track season, the Yellow Jackets held an outdoor picnic, thus ending another successful year.

The Student Council of 1931-32 has endeavored throughout the year to promote unity, co-operation, and school spirit among the students of Webster High School. The Council, in every measure that has been passed, has tried to place the students' interests foremost, and, at the same time, to consider the faculty's point of view.

The Council is divided into two branches—the Lower House, composed of students from the seventh, eighth, and ninth grades, and the Upper House, composed of students from the three higher grades. Each house attempts to meet the problems of its own division and, jointly, to meet those problems in which the entire school is concerned.

An Assembly Program Committee was elected, in which the student body was represented. Through this committee students were enabled to express their own desires in regard to the types of programs. Consequently, the assembly programs of the past year have been highly successful.

A much-needed student activity committee was formed to arrange a systematic program of campaigns and school activities. In previous years activities had conflicted with each other, and general confusion had often existed. By means of the committee, school events were arranged to follow successively and to avoid confliction.

Another of the important accomplishments of the year was the establishment of an award for outstanding ability in scholarship and extra-curricular activities. Recognition of activities other than athletics was heretofore lacking. The goal for the award was set high in order to make its attainment a difficult and greatly honored achievement.

The I Y, a very popular club in the lower school, was founded in 1926. It was the first club of its kind in Missouri and one of the first in the former Webster Groves Junior High School. It is affiliated with the Y. M. C. A. The purpose of the organization is "to cultivate the mind, body, and spirit so as to best serve the school and community".

The club is divided into two chapters, the Alpha and the Beta. Alpha Chapter has as its sponsor Mr. Fues; Beta has Mr. Lindbloom. The chapters, while neither is very large, consider themselves ideal sized groups. This year the club tried the system of having its meetings at night in the homes of the members.

The most worth while activity of the club this year was selling rock house numbers, and the money earned was given to the Red Cross.

As the club meetings were at night, it was not difficult to obtain good speakers. During the year such prominent men as Mr. McDonald, chief of police; Boise Pothoff, football and basketball coach; Captain Moss, a retired sea captain, and Mr. Nelms, boys' worker from the Y. M. C. A., spoke to the club.

The purpose of El Circulo Espanol is to stimulate within the Spanish students an interest in Spanish customs and history. The club is not large, but because of its size, it is able to accomplish some things which larger groups cannot.

Some very interesting, well-planned programs and entertainments have taken place during the past year. A trip to the St. Louis Art Museum to see the display of Mexican art, dating back to the time of the Aztec Indians, was both instructive and entertaining. Another enjoyable trip was the one made to the Jefferson Memorial to see the Lindbergh trophies.

In addition to these trips the group had two picnics—one in the fall, the other in the spring. The Christmas season was celebrated with a party at the "Castilla", a restaurant representing a Spanish courtyard.

One of the interesting speakers of the year was Miss Sutherland, who spoke concerning her winter in Spain where she made a study of the Spanish language.

At the beginning of the second semester several new members were admitted to the club. The members were: Frank Brown, Barbara Black, Frances Fleshman, Marie Duenke, and Allen Bickley. To welcome these people a small fiesta was given in the girls' gymnasium. Several came in fiesta attire.

The club membership is limited to fifteen. Any student of the upper school who has had at least one year of Spanish or is in a Spanish class is eligible for membership. The meetings are held every Wednesday at three o'clock.

Conventus Latinus was organized on September 18th, 1925, and from the beginning of its organization, under the able sponsorship of Miss Farmer, it has held a prominent place in the activities of the school. In representing the mighty Romans in all the glory of their ancient splendor and eloquence, the Latin Club has stimulated interest in the language and has produced among its members ties of friendship which will remain among the happiest of high school memories.

The organization is Roman throughout. Senior members are the Senators, juniors are the Equites, and sophomores are the Plebians. All club officers have Roman titles, and the club motto is "FACTA NON VERBA".

A series of programs dealing with various phases of Roman life were presented. Other club programs featuring short plays, contests, alumnae activities, and parties were given.

Early this year Mr. Hixson gave the club an inspiring talk on the value of Latin. Later Mr. Latta gave an interesting address on the same topic. Alumnae Day brought a dozen or more letters from former Latin students, who are now attending various colleges and universities throughout the country, and David Horton personally brought the group a vivid and entertaining picture of campus life at Washington University.

Enjoyable musical programs at intervals throughout the year have also featured our former Latin students. In September, Miss Katherine Stuart sang for the club. In March, Miss Hazel Payne, assisted by her brother, Allan, who is one of our beginning Latin students, gave a program of vocal music.

The Cicero classes have furnished lively debates, combining subjects of ancient and modern interest. The "Latinus Rumor" is another branch of the club work.

The Senior Vocational Club was organized by a group of students who wished to examine various classes of industries and to study professions and vocations of interest. At the beginning of the year a list was made of the vocations in which the members were interested; then a discussion of these vocations was held. In this way new and broadening viewpoints were gained. After the discussion, trips were taken with the idea of gaining information which may be valuable in helping to establish the future careers of the members.

The club visited such places as: The Coca-Cola Bottling Company, the Anheuser-Busch plant, the Walter Freund Bakery Company, the St. Louis Globe-Democrat, and both the St. Louis, Missouri, and the Highland, Illinois, branches of the St. Louis Dairy. One of the most interesting trips was that taken to the St. Louis Police Headquarters, where the many points of interest in police work were revealed. In each plant visited, the process of production was explained very fully, and by each explanation the students' viewpoints were considerably broadened.

Not all the club's activities were devoted to industries. Two picnics were given during the year, one in the fall, the other in the spring. The fall picnic was held on the Union Electric Country Club grounds; the other was held near Wild Horse Creek Road.

The Vocational Club was introduced into Webster High School in 1927. It soon became so popular that it was necessary to divide the group into two sections, one for juniors and one for seniors.

The purpose of the club is to guide the members in their choice of a future occupation. This club gives the students the opportunity to see and to become familiar with various lines of work.

During the past year, the club members have enjoyed many privileges and interesting programs under the able guidance of their sponsor, Miss W. Toner.

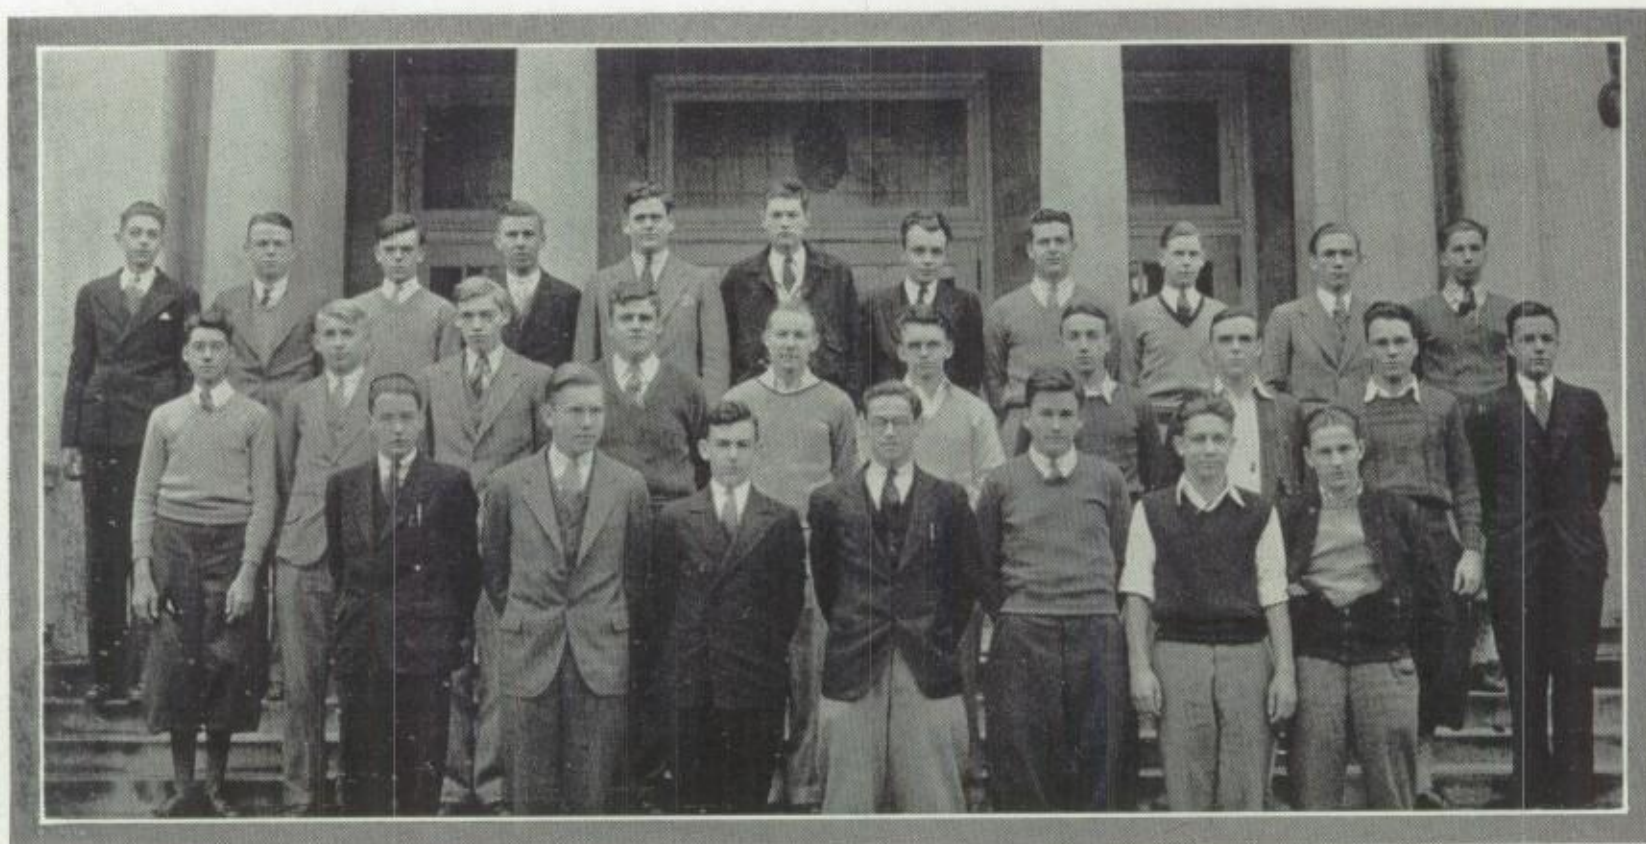

Visits were made to Anheuser-Busch, the Curtiss-Wright Company, the City Dairy, the Barnes Hospital, the new Globe-Democrat Building, the Loose-Wiles Biscuit Company, the Webster Groves exchange of the Bell Telephone Company, and the Purina Mills.

Among the speakers were Mrs. Manning from the Webster Groves Public Library, who talked about "Library Work as a Vocation;" Ensign Bergtold from KWK, who gave an interesting talk on radio work; Miss Sutherland, who spoke of her experiences as a teacher in China; Mr. Lens from the St. Louis Zoo, who talked about his hobby and profession, snakes; and Mr. Ammerman, the assistant principal of the Roosevelt High School.

Several of the programs were devoted to educational films. Other programs consisted of reports on various vocations. These reports were given by members of the club.

Aside from the regular club activities, a dinner dance was held at the home of one of the members, and at Christmas the club held a party in the school lunch room.

During the past year the Alpha chapter of the Hi-Y has had a very successful season. The purpose of the club is to improve school and community, and the members of the club have tried to live up to this purpose by assisting in various lines of work.

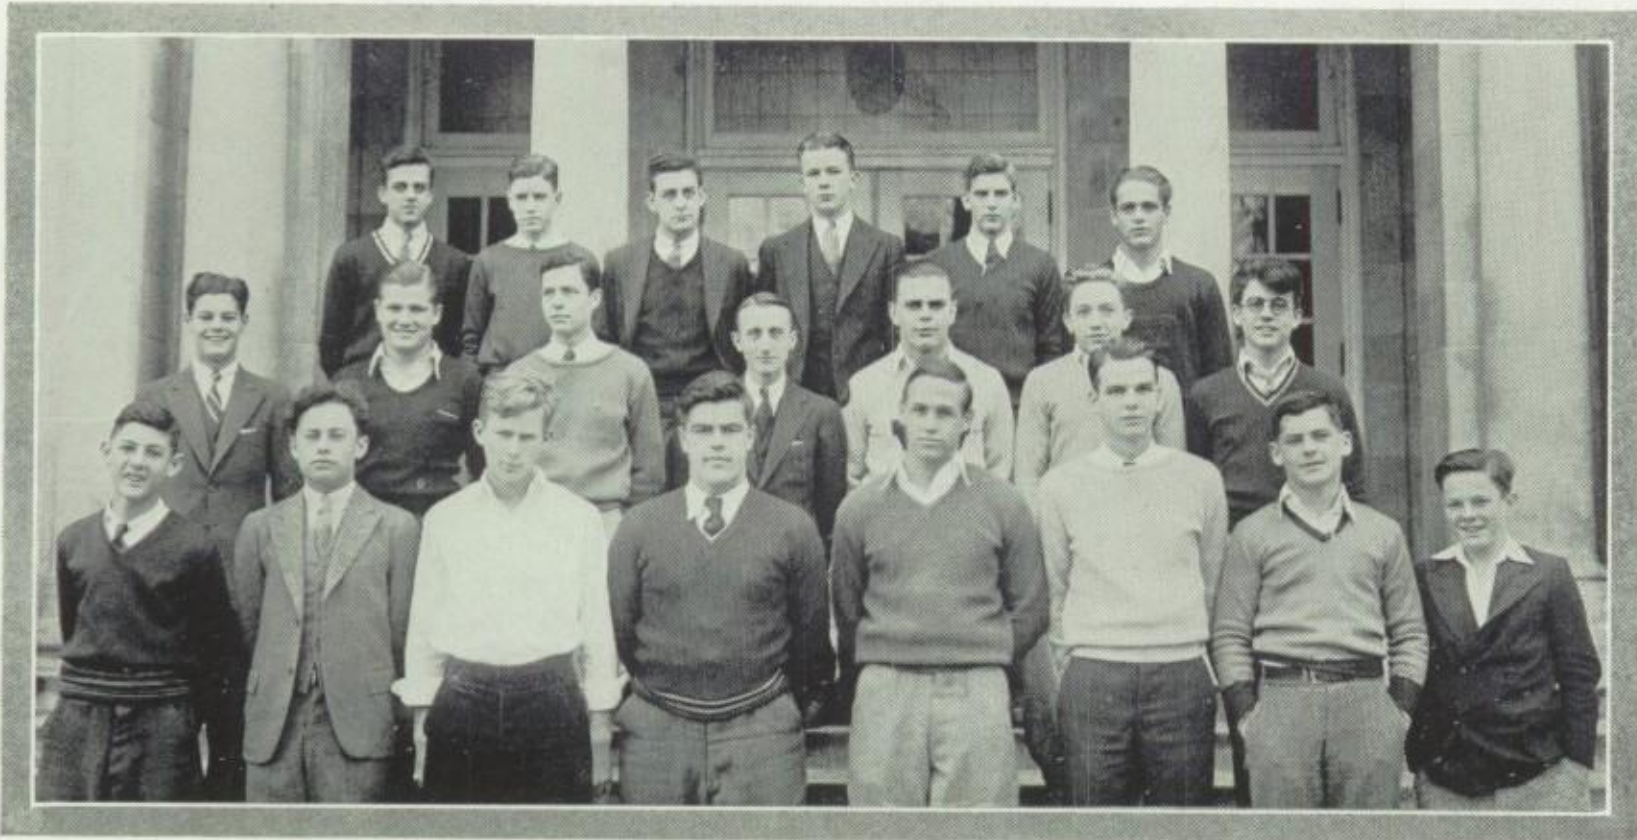

At the beginning of the year the problem of school spirit was introduced at the meetings. The organization, acting on the suggestion of its members, became an important factor in developing better spirit in Webster High School.

At Thanksgiving baskets were made up to go to needy families. The club aided the Red Cross during the Christmas season in delivering two hundred baskets.

In January the boys' work committee organized the Hi-Y council. A county-wide open-house was held for Hi-Y members and their parents at the high school auditorium. A large share of credit for progress in Hi-Y work goes to the committee consisting of: Mr. Reichardt, Mr. Goslin, Mr. Coggeshall and "Doc" Lewis.

The speakers have been of interest to all who heard them. The speaker at the open-house was Mr. Branch Rickey, who made an impression on all present. Speakers at the chapter meetings have been from the surrounding locality. Three of the well-known guest speakers were: Dr. Gibson, Chief McDonald, and Captain Moss.

The purpose of the Hi-Y is "to create, to maintain, and to extend throughout the school and community a high standard of Christian character." The Hi-Y has a four-fold platform: clean living, clean speech, clean athletics, and clean scholarship. With this to work on as a background and foundation for the club, the members of the Hi-Y have been of invaluable service to the Webster Groves High School.

Last fall the attendance at football games was poor. Through a series of well planned and executed speeches and "pep" meetings, the members of the Hi-Y club revived school spirit, emphasized sportsmanship, and brought an enthusiastic student body to the football games, to "cheer on" a losing team. The Hi-Y also helped the Webster Echo in its subscription campaign.

We of Webster Groves have for a long time been of the conviction that all good people live in Webster. Quite naturally the responsive attitude of outsiders was that all people in Webster are "snobs." This situation, perhaps engendered by Webster's consistent victories in all types of interscholastic competition, had reached a point where it needed to change. Therefore, the Webster Hi-Y held a county-wide meeting in the high school where singing, an excellent speech by Branch Rickey, and an induction ceremony took place. Here members of all schools mingled together and formed acquaintances that in some instances have developed into friendships.

Although the Hi-Y often remains in the background, a great many school projects are enabled to survive because of the Hi-Y. It is one of the most worthwhile, constructive, extra-curricular activities in the school.

This year was the seventh year in which the boys' glee club has had its place among high school organizations. Starting as a small club it has rapidly grown, until now it is regarded as one of the school's leading organizations.

The club has appeared in public on several occasions, but the main work of the year was the light opera, "Pinafore". This Gilbert and Sullivan opera was the first light opera ever presented at Webster and was by far more difficult than any operetta ever before attempted by the glee club. The fact that almost all the chorus parts were for boys added further problems of presentation. Many hours were spent outside of school in order to produce the opera in its best form. The members of the club were very willing to give this time outside of school, and the opera, when presented, revealed their co-operation. Most people agreed when they had seen the opera that the students deserved a great deal of credit for their efforts. The glee club by this production paved the way for better opera and operettas in the future and assured the public of high-typed performance in the following years.

The big disappointment of the school year occurred when Missouri University announced that the annual music contest at the University would be deferred to 1933, due to the depression. The boys always look forward to this contest as it offers an opportunity for just rating and sincere criticism.

A second glee club is to be organized next year, and every boy in the upper school who desires to belong will be given an opportunity to join one of the two. Mr. Best is very capable, and many students should take advantage of his instruction. After the success of the operetta this year and the fine programs presented by the boys on several occasions, two fine glee clubs are expected next year.

The girls' glee club has made remarkable progress since its origin five years ago, and it is now divided into two steadily increasing classes. One group is composed of students who have had previous musical training; the other is combined with the boys' glee club to form a mixed chorus.

This year both clubs have become well known through programs given for various organizations and over the radio. The girls feel as if they were veteran broadcasters, having sung over both KMOX and KWK. There was no state contest this year, but the Women's Glee Club of Washington University sponsored a similar event for the glee clubs of St. Louis and St. Louis county in which Webster was entered.

One of the outstanding successes was the presentation of the Gilbert and Sullivan opera, "H. M. S. Pinafore", in which all glee club members participated.

In the Lion's Club Review, the girls presented a program of delightful folk music from different countries. The glee clubs and the quartette also appeared before the Rotary and Monday Clubs, D. A. R., and local churches.

For the past three years, the advanced club has made a fine record in the annual state contest at Columbia. In the years 1929 and 1930, the glee club and the quartette were awarded first place, and in 1931 the club, the quartette, and the mixed chorus received that honor.

The splendid direction of Miss Replogle and the co-operation of the girls have been responsible for the success of the club. It is to be hoped that there will be as much interest in the club and its activities in the future as there has been in the past.

"Books are the greatest teachers of mankind."

—Henry Van Dyke.

The library staff is composed of students who volunteer to assist in the library before and after school and during all school hours. Miss Mildred K. Allen, school librarian, is in charge of this staff, which is composed of sixteen students. There are two students on duty during each study hour.

The duty of this staff is to prepare the trays of books for the teachers, receive and issue all books to students during study hours, collect fines, and prepare books for circulation. Besides those on duty there are the students who do other things about the library, such as typing catalogue cards and other correspondence, filing the cards in the catalogue, repairing books, and running the necessary errands.

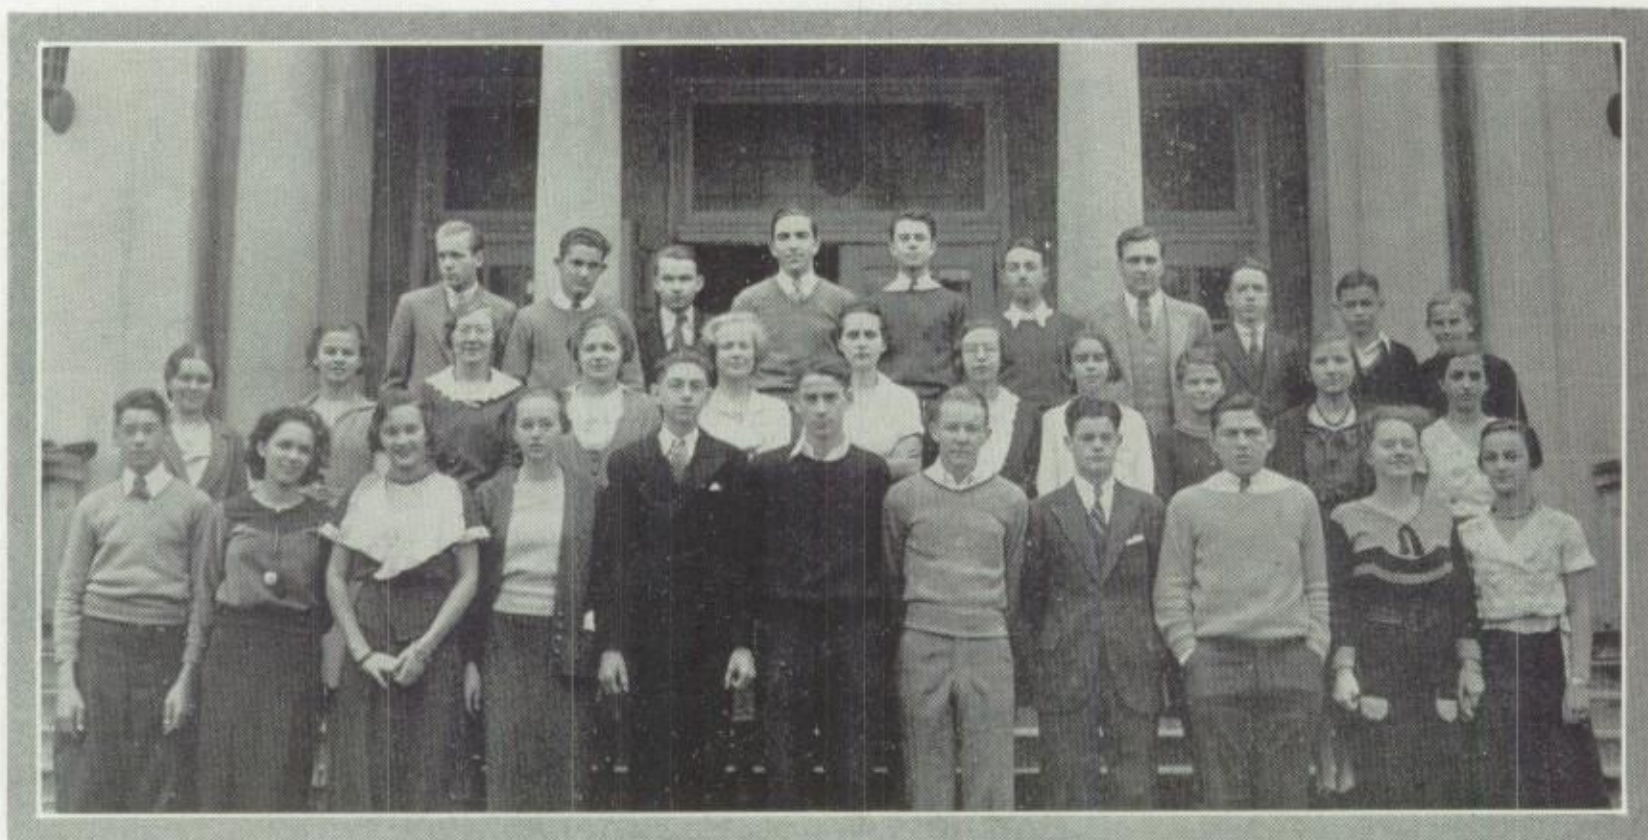

The library contains about six thousand volumes, including reference books, modern and classical fiction, history, drama, poetry, essays, and current magazines. The books are obtained by an appropriation made by the board of education and by donations from the students and friends of the library. About four hundred books have been bought this year, and quite a few have been donated. A very fine set of aircraft books was donated by Colonel Dunwoodie, and is among the outstanding gifts. The library always welcomes gifts from its friends.

All books which are not in constant demand may be kept out of the library for a week. Books which are used by the teachers in their classes must be returned before 8:30 of the following morning or the student is fined five cents. All fine money is used for pictures illustrative of the classics and for illustrated copies of standard fiction.

As a part of the national book week celebration in November, a vote was taken by the student body as to the two most popular books. "Les Miserables," by Victor Hugo, was first, and the "Tale of Two Cities," by Charles Dickens, was second.

On Monday more books are returned than on any other day. The "record-breaker" this year was the Monday after the Christmas holidays, when one hundred and seventy books were returned.

At the beginning of the school year 1931-32 the debate team began its usual series of debates with great zest; the prospects for the year being very favorable.

On December 15th, Elizabeth Phillips and Philip Monypenny met Washington University on the question of unemployment insurance. The university team was composed of David Horton and Jesse Jeter, both former students and debaters at Webster High School.

The next debate was with Missouri University on the problem of centralized control of industry. Webster was represented by Briggs Austin, William Stoecker and John G. Miller.

Debates were also held with Shurtleff College and Westminster College. In the Shurtleff debate Elizabeth Phillips, Louise Schippers and Elizabeth Atkisson debated on the cancellation of war debts and reparations. Disarmament was the question in the Westminster debate; Don Ellinger, Winfred Schwarz and Philip Monypenny upheld the affirmative for Webster.

At the close of each college debate the audience was given the privilege of expressing its opinions. Many interesting ideas, in addition to those presented by the debaters, were expressed in these open discussions.

Every spring for six years Webster has entered the debate tournament sponsored by William Woods College and for seven years the contest sponsored at the same time by Westminster College. A team composed of Helen Konesko, Elizabeth Phillips, and Elizabeth Atkisson took part in the William Woods tournament, but it was eliminated after its second debate. The boys' team—John G. Miller, Briggs Austin, and Don Ellinger—entered the Westminster tournament and succeeded in going as far as its second debate.

On April 15 and 16, Don Ellinger and Philip Monypenny participated in the district tournament held at Fayette, Missouri, under the auspices of the National Forensic League. Webster came away with a fourth place in this contest.

In the contests between Webster and the high schools of St. Louis and vicinity, Webster won the majority.

The Forensic League is a national honorary speech society which sponsors interest and participation in all the forms of public speaking. Webster Groves has been a member for several years and for the last five years has been the leading chapter in Missouri. This year the Webster Groves Chapter received the distinguished service award. Ours is the first chapter in the United States to receive the award, and it has been made possible only through the superior participation of Webster Groves students from the beginning.

The members are given points for praiseworthy work in debate, oration, declamation, and speech. They advance from rank to rank as their total number of points increases. The degrees possible to acquire are: degree of merit, degree of honor, degree of excellence and degree of distinction, in order of their importance.

Webster participated in a contest held at Mascoutah, Illinois, on March 4, in which Elizabeth Phillips, Philip Monypenny, Don Ellinger, John Miller, and Winfred Schwartz each placed in one of the branches of the forensic contest.

The annual Forensic League state tournament was held at Fayette, April 15 and 16, and Webster entered as usual. As a result of the efforts of John Miller, Mildred Gausmann, and Elizabeth Phillips Webster won the tournament.

In May, Mildred Gausmann and John Miller competed in a National Contest in Sioux City, Iowa.

One of the members of the Webster chapter, Philip Monypenny, has the honor of being district chairman of the Missouri-Nebraska District of the league. He is expected to be one of the national directors for the year 1932-33.

The Quill and Scroll is the "National Honorary Society for High School Journalists." The society was organized as a non-secret honorary organization, with the end in view of recognizing and rewarding ability and achievement in writing and other phases of journalistic work in the high school.

There were no members at the beginning of the school year. All thirteen present members were admitted in the spring. Three of these are juniors and ten are seniors, all of whom have done superior work in the field of journalism. At the beginning of next year Webster will still have active members in its chapter.

The purpose of the Quill and Scroll is to instill in the students the ideal of scholarship; to advance the standards of the profession of journalism by developing better journalists and by inculcating a higher code of ethics and to promote exact and dispassionate thinking and clear and forceful writing.

Members of the Quill and Scroll must meet five requirements. They must be of at least junior or senior classification and in the upper third of their class in general scholastic standing at the time of their election. Members must have done superior work in writing, editing, or in business management and must be recommended by the sponsor of the publication. In addition to these requirements each member must be approved by the national secretary-treasurer of the society.

The Webster society is known as the Joseph Pulitzer Chapter, and was inaugurated in Webster High School in 1927. Miss Mary Howard is the faculty sponsor of the Quill and Scroll, and Miss Margaret Schowengerdt is a faculty member.

The National Junior Honor Society is a very young organization, having been in existence only since the year 1929. The Webster Groves Chapter of this national organization was established in the following year.

The National Junior Honor Society, whose membership is limited to students in junior high schools and to those in the three lower grades of six-year high schools, is an outgrowth of the demand for an organization similar to the National Honor Society, which has been in existence for a number of years in senior high schools and in the three upper grades of six-year high schools. Membership in the junior society, however, does not assure one that he will be elected to membership in the older group.

The organization is not a club in that it does not have regular meetings, nor can it rightly be called an activity. The primary purpose of the society is to encourage the students toward greater scholastic heights, to develop dependability and leadership, and to build a better character in each individual student. Membership is based on scholarship, leadership, and service, and each student recommended must be approved by the faculty. Such qualifications limit the membership to a comparatively small group. The new members each year are publicly recognized by the pin, which serves to increase interest in scholarship.

During the year two induction ceremonies were held. The first was in the fall before the lower school assembly. Many parents of the students about to be inducted into the organization attended the brief ritual. The second induction ceremony was held in the spring at an evening meeting. The parents of the students were invited to the last meeting, and many attended. After the ceremonies, refreshments were served, and everyone had a happy evening.

The increase in membership and in interest shown along scholastic lines, conclusively proves that the society is succeeding in carrying out its purpose.

This year a new organization has been introduced in Webster Groves High School. That is the National Thespian Society, an honorary organization whose purpose is to bring together those who have achieved distinction in dramatic work. The requirement for membership in this organization is successful participation in a required number of plays. The student must have experience in playing both major and minor roles. Provided that back stage workers have experience in the regulation number of productions, they—as well as members of play casts—are eligible.

Thus far the meetings of the Thespians have proven very interesting and educational. The first meeting was held at Fred Cheney's home. The entertainer of the evening was Mr. David Jones, a dramatic reader, who gave Zangwill's "Melting Pot".

The next meeting was held at the home of Katherine Jones. The Rev. Mr. George Gibson, Jr., was the speaker of the evening. He gave an enjoyable review of "The Last Mile", a powerful prison story.

The third meeting was a theater party. The play attended was "Cyrano de Bergerac", the old French play of great renown, in which Walter Hampden had the lead.

The following meeting was at Virginia Montague's home. The well-known Mr. Percival Chubb, of the St. Louis Ethical Society, was the speaker. He gave a very delightful review of "Green Pastures", the outstanding play hit of the St. Louis theater season.

Only those students who are enthusiastic about dramatic work are in this society, so the club will doubtless be a success. The group feels indebted and grateful to Mr. Eugene Wood, who gives much of his time to the development and interest of this organization.

It was acclaimed by the audience of the matinee performance on April 28 and of the evening presentation on April 29 to be an outstanding dramatic production of the year.

The cast consisting of eleven men and four women, was chosen from open try-out held during the second week of March. The committee that chose the cast was composed of Mr. Wood and the senior sponsors. The members of the cast were selected on the basis of acting ability, scholastic standing, and past activity reputation.

The play itself was chosen by a special senior committee.

The presentation of the famous Gilbert and Sullivan comic opera "H. M. S. PINAFORE" by the music department of Webster Groves High School set a new standard for future musical productions. The successes of previous years led the department heads to believe that a more difficult opera would meet with an enthusiastic reception.

The opera was conducted by Miss Esther Replogle and Mr. Clarence J. Best. Included in the cast were all the members of both the girls' and the boys' glee clubs; a selected group was taken from the orchestra to accompany the numbers.

For the first time in many years three performances were given instead of the usual two. The support given by the audiences proved the plan to be worthwhile.

Although it is not new to Webster Groves High School, the art club was reorganized in 1930 under the capable sponsorship of Miss Rowley, art supervisor of the Webster Groves public schools.

The aim and purpose of the club is to stimulate an interest in the various fields of art work.

During the past year, scrap books were made for children in the various hospitals of St. Louis. These books were constructed in such a way that the children themselves would be able to paste the pictures in them.

Other projects undertaken were: paintexing, a form of batik work, leather working, monogramming stationery, cutting linoleum blocks for Christmas cards, making mottoes and papier mache bowls, and lettering.

Paintex, although it is more tedious than the other things to do, was probably the most interesting and fascinating of all the work done. In doing paintex work, the design is first drawn on a blotter, and the paint is applied directly on the material. Washing and pressing the material enhance the color in the design.

Although there are only fifteen members in the club, many enjoyable and instructive meetings have been held during the school year.

After a very busy season for the members the art club gave a party and thus ended a successful year.

MOODS

The waves dash up to meet me as I sit idly dreaming on the huge sea rocks.
The fine spume wets my face and drops like sparkling jewels.
The seagulls wing their way over me crying, and the murmurs of the sea among the rocks blend as one.
The white-capped waves ripple and dance, the sea sighs and throws them upon the shore.
Then they dash back to play again, leaving the sands glistening in the sun.

The wind blows my hair in disordered array about me, and as I toss it back
I see far out over the water a sailboat.
Its white sails dip and plunge, and it seems like a great white heron about to spread its wings and fly and skim over the bosom of the sea.

Then I see a different sea that God has made, changed from a peaceful calm to a torrent of rage and fury.
Each wave mocking the other into challenge, there to rush in, and, with a mighty roar, hurl themselves upon the rocks, to frighten the seagulls gathered there,
And to buffet and play with the ships on their way to distant lands.

And when at last the storm is spent and glad to rest, the weary helmsman thanks God that the storm is over and sets the ship once more to her course.
The wearied waves again their song begin, a song that every seaman knows and loves.
Sometimes it steals away the sand castles built by childish hands, sometimes it sings and murmurs.
'Twill always be there, that song.

And when evening comes and the village lights begin to twinkle, and the ships come home, and the fisherman trudges home to his lowly supper,
Then quiet and peace has fallen and the day has ended.

THE ELF

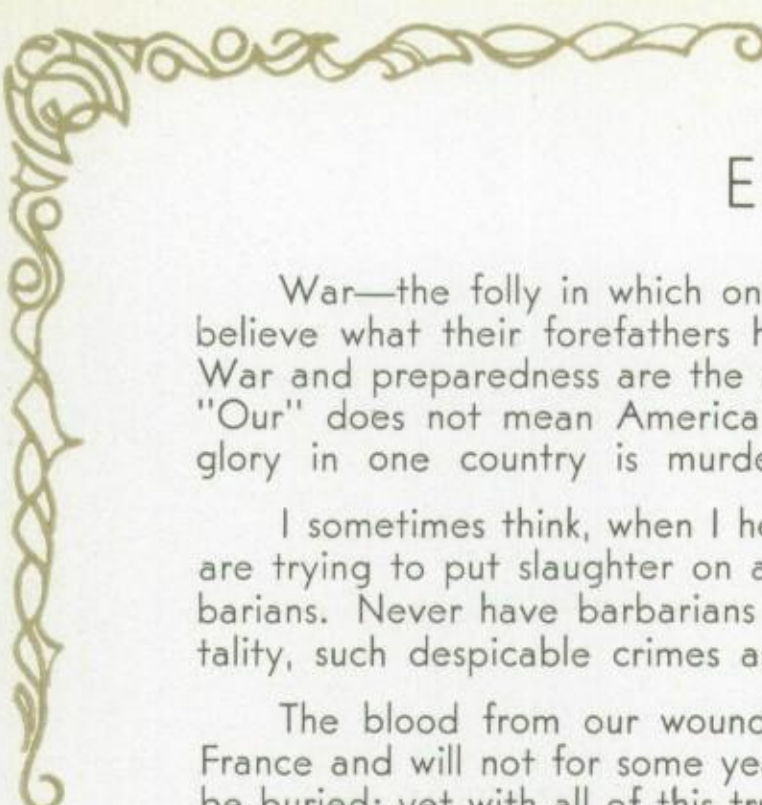

I stood upon a hill at sunset
And watched the sky begin to drape itself
In rose and purple clouds. And then an elf
Of mischief, I presume, appeared and said,
"This signifies to you deceit. This base
Of color merely tries to make your race
Put faith in only things which they can see.
Beware! The night will follow. Careful be!"

I stood upon my hill in darkness black
And watched the moon go down behind a shelf
Of clouds. And then from nowhere spoke the elf,
"The night has come! Your race of men is dead!
The black exterminated them! But you
Will live because throughout the years gone by you knew
That God was light! The night was never seen
With eyes of yours. The day did always beam."

I stood upon my hill one day at sunrise
And watched the day light up the world itself.
All heaven sang. And then I heard the elf.
"Remember this! Light is the truth of God!
The night will come, but light succeeds the black.
Discouraged never grow, but seek the track
Which, though faintly marked, will lead to light and God!"
I knelt and with my soul and head did nod.

ESSAY ON WAR

War—the folly in which only new generations indulge. New generations who do not believe what their forefathers have proved again and again—war never settled anything. War and preparedness are the most heinous robbers of our social welfare and our lives. "Our" does not mean America's, but the whole world's—civilized and uncivilized. What is glory in one country is murder in another.

I sometimes think, when I hear the term "Civilized Warfare" that we civilized warriors are trying to put slaughter on a high and dignified plane, when in reality we are the barbarians. Never have barbarians or savages wreaked such terrible revenge, such terrible brutality, such despicable crimes as did we "civilized people" in our Great War.

The blood from our wounds is barely dry, grass has not yet grown on some fields in France and will not for some years to come. Many are still not buried, too many will never be buried; yet with all of this true—we are better prepared today than ever before to re-enact the same tragedy again. Experience seems to teach us nothing.

The stage certainly is set. Many of the powers would like to return to the limelight again. Business (the main actor in war) is poor, and the gluttonous privateers would, most assuredly, enjoy aiding the belligerents of the new silver-lined conflagration. To be brief, there are too many, either selfish, arrogant, or ignorant people in this world who would welcome war.

I am thankful that those few who took part in this last war or in any other war and who are alive today do not encourage war. They know what war is. They have tested their arms and regretted it. They know now how long war ruins smoulder after peace has been declared. Things which were easy to tear down and destroy, they now find are hard to replace. They learned, they learn, and they will yet learn for some time to come.

Oh, it is thrilling to march down the boulevard as the people cheer and the band booms forth some stirring military march. What a spectacle! Those solid files, filled to full fighting strength, swinging by in perfect unison. Yes, life-like, it would be easy to die now. They have passed on and are out of sight. They are gone! There is the war to fight now. The people in the crowd return to their homes and places of business. Little do they know what they have cheered their boys into.

Later, when the war is over, there is another parade. The bands and the cheering crowd are on the boulevard again, but where are those solid files? Where did they go?

Some are in the hospital, some are here, here on the boulevard, and thousands more are buried on the battle fields.

War isn't a picnic or a holiday from work as recruiting officers would have people believe. It isn't glorious to die as our "stay-at-home patriots" tell us. It is all right for some one else to die, but when it is our turn we shrink back. The price is too great to pay for a doubtful cause.

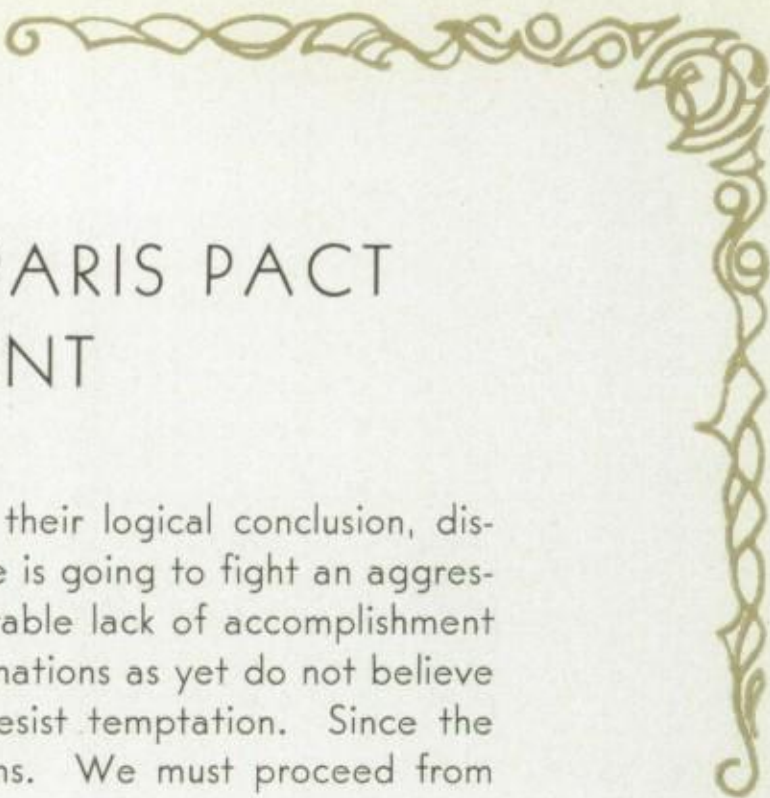

War is like a football game. The team has a work out, day after day. They do nothing but practice. Soon they feel as though they have a strong team. What happens? They are tired of practice. They want a game—a chance to show their skill. They find a reason for a game.

An army is just a big team, all working together. Its leaders like to show their ability and power. They want to win, to become famous. After all they are only human, but is it not possible to prove one's mettle in some other field, rather than gaining renown at the expense of human lives?

So I think that the world should do away with its mighty teams and thus lessen the chances of another "Big Game".

THE RELATION OF THE PARIS PACT TO DISARMAMENT

If the ideas expressed in the pact are carried to their logical conclusion, disarmament is necessary to preserve consistency. If no one is going to fight an aggressive war, what use remains for armament? Yet the notable lack of accomplishment of the disarmament conferences to date shows that the nations as yet do not believe in each other's sincerity or in each other's ability to resist temptation. Since the lack of trust exists, logic has no place in our conclusions. We must proceed from conditions as they are.

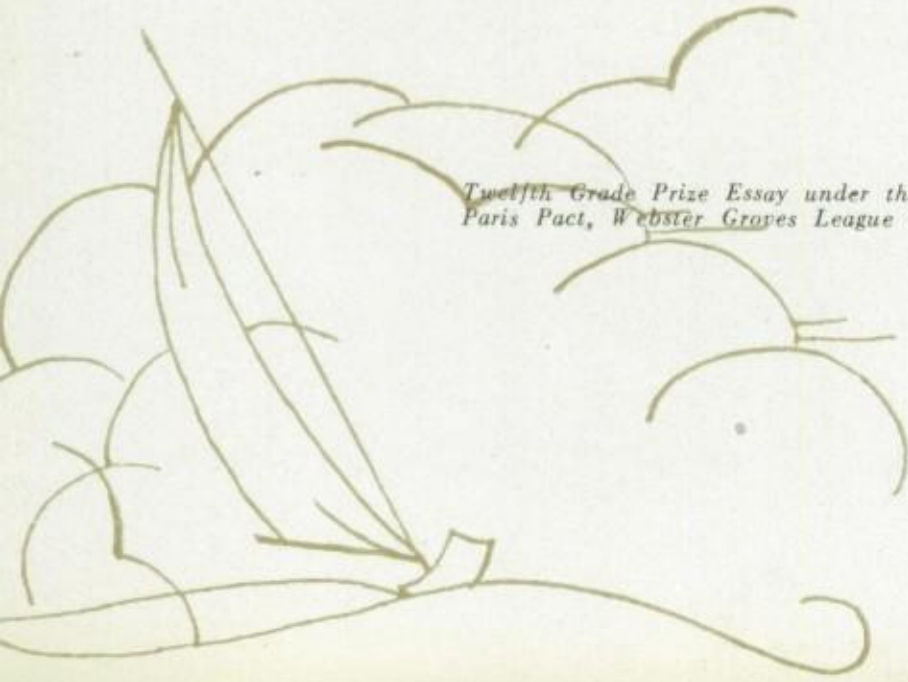

However, the pact as an expression of a principle is a beginning. It lays down a postulate. Since aggressive war is agreed to be undesirable, it would seem evident that the logical and desirable end of disarmament is to check or prevent, as far as possible, aggressive war. That is the relation between the pact and disarmament on the basis of logic. The moral value is of course great, but it cannot be weighed and cannot take effect of itself without our help.

Major Lefebure, the author of "The Riddle of the Rhine," in his recent book, "Scientific Disarmament," sets forth the principles by which this may be accomplished. The idea of the prevention of sudden attack as the basis of armament solves most of the technical difficulties. There is no question of the parity of the forces between France and Italy, but only of the maximum force each may have and still be unable to make a decisive attack on the other. Following this line of thought the desirable state of disarmament is one in which there are no trained reserves, huge stocks of armaments, no preparations for their manufacture, no research in order to discover the most efficient ways of killing men, in which open exchange of facts concerning the state of each nation's forces prevails.

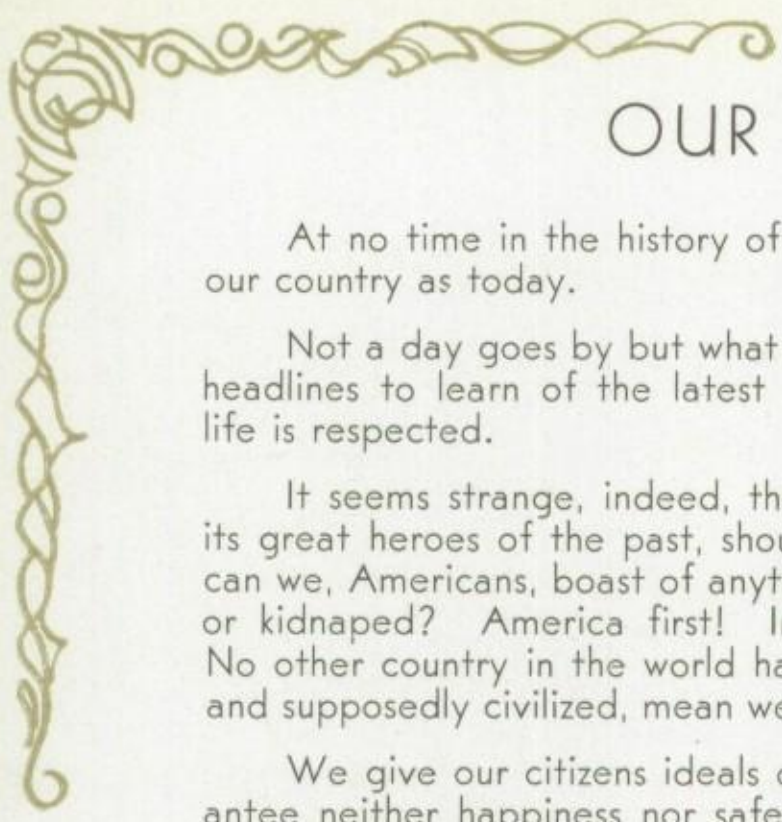

This material disarmament carries out the mental disarmament of the pact. With no implements for sudden war, the statesman looks with more favor upon the ways of peace. With no huge-scale preparations for an imaginary enemy agitating the nation, with few vested interests in war, with no waves of militarism emanating from staff headquarters, the peoples of the world will think less of war and feel less of an emotional preparedness for it. The moral force of this condition will carry out the purpose of the pact.

Thus the relation between the Paris pact and disarmament is the postulate the pact carries for disarmament to prevent aggression, and the material and mental conditions favorable to peace which will be brought about by such disarmament.

PHILIP MONYPENNY.

Twelfth Grade Prize Essay under the auspices of the National Student Forum on the Paris Pact, Webster Groves League of Women Voters, Webster Groves Peace Council

OUR REIGN OF TERROR

At no time in the history of the United States has such a wave of crime contaminated our country as today.

Not a day goes by but what we, when reading the newspapers, have only to read the headlines to learn of the latest murder, robbery, or kidnaping. No one is safe. No one's life is respected.

It seems strange, indeed, that a nation which boasts of its progress, of its ideals, of its great heroes of the past, should be so indifferent to human safety and happiness. How can we, Americans, boast of anything when men and women and even children are murdered or kidnaped? America first! In progress or in crime? The answer is, unfortunately, crime. No other country in the world has a crime rate equal to ours. And yet we, being human and supposedly civilized, mean well.

We give our citizens ideals of freedom, democracy, and patriotism, but we can guarantee neither happiness nor safety to anyone.

Our newspapers and movies glorify crime and show a murderer as a hero or as a martyr. Our slums and prisons breed the lowest types of criminals.

With characteristic inconsistency we jail a hungry man for stealing a loaf of bread. He is thrown among human brutes and like them becomes savage and bitter. He dedicates his life to hate and broods over his unfair lot. Not one thing was done to ease his hunger. We are in too much of a hurry to delve into the causes of crime, but we know that some one must suffer a penalty for the crime, and so another human is made a servant of our government while we allow the poverty and misery of future criminals to continue.

There will always be crime in America until our slums are abolished and until the children living in the foulest homes, amid dirt and squalor, are given a chance to enjoy organized play. Those children learn to steal as soon as they learn to walk. They crave excitement, thrills, and the pleasure of defying the law. It is human to rebel at restraint. Any child does rebel a few times and goes into a rage at parental imposed laws. Self-control is one of the first lessons a child with good environment learns, but what happens to the boy or girl living in the slums? Poverty has forced him to look after himself so that his mother may work. He scorns law and self-control. He knows what he wants and gets it in the worst way. Honor must be taught. There is no one to teach the street waif.

Man is by nature a gregarious animal. The "gang" instinct is as strong in the boys of the tenements as it is in the rich boys. Great force and energy is gathered in crowds of boys and turned to bad uses. Their love of excitement which must have an outlet drives them to questionable actions. As they grow older, they become more daring and vicious. Their "gang" instinct is stronger. The one unpardonable crime, to their way of thinking, is to "squeal" on a member of the "gang". Their ambition is power, to be gained through money, to be gained by lawlessness. Their code is like that of a pack of wolves: Kill or be killed!

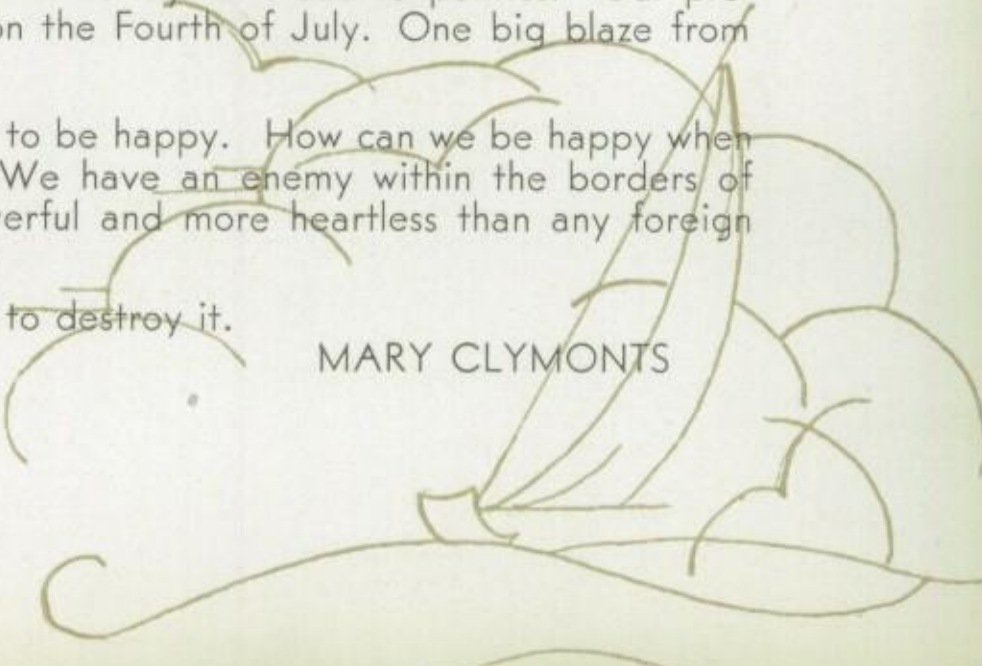

All this is going on in the congested districts of our country. We do little about it, and the tragic thing is that we do still less to destroy the power of our gangsters. We read with horror of babies being riddled with the bullets of heartless gangsters. Enraged, we make speeches and after sticking out indignant tongues at the villains—well, we just sit down, fold our hands, mutter something about the "younger generation" and forget about it for another week.

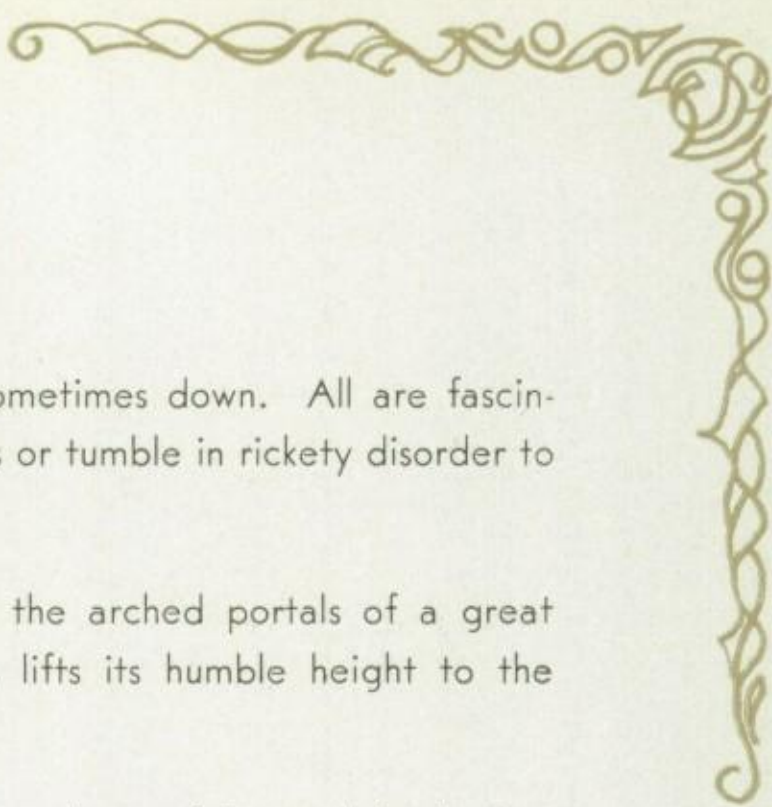

Such is the great American policy—and some of us say—it's due to politics. Our protests against crime are similar to demonstrations on the Fourth of July. One big blaze from enraged citizens and then the fuss is over.

We, as American citizens, demand the right to be happy. How can we be happy when we are not free? We are not free from fear. We have an enemy within the borders of our country, an enemy more dangerous, more powerful and more heartless than any foreign foe could be.

May we soon have the courage and strength to destroy it.

MARY CLYMONT

STAIRS

By Joyce Moody

The world is filled with stairs that lead sometimes up, sometimes down. All are fascinating whether they mount sedately to well-known bed rooms or tumble in rickety disorder to dismal cellars.

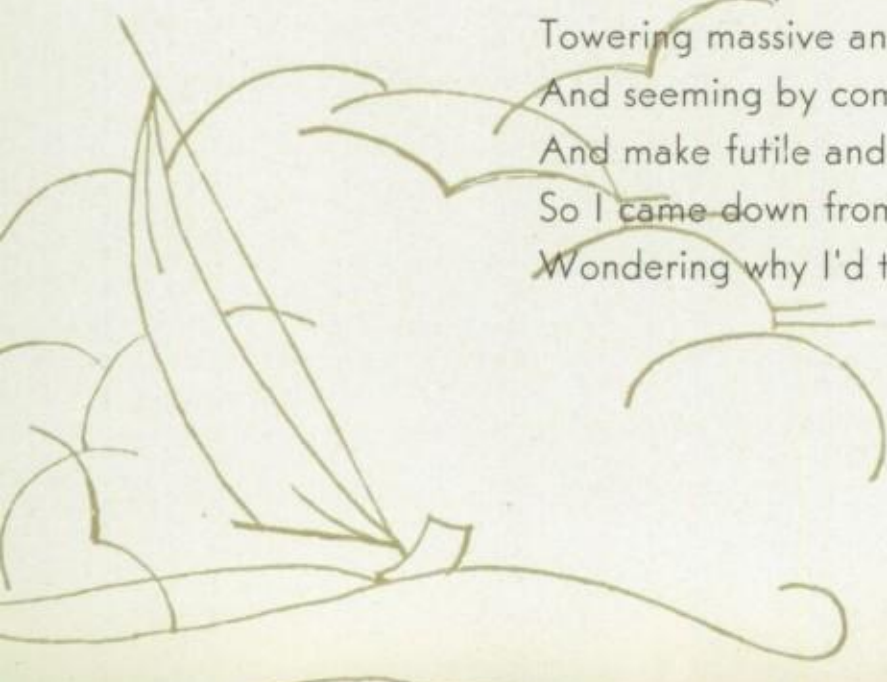

One flight of steps may sweep in stately procession to the arched portals of a great cathedral, while another, its wooded steps warped and grey, lifts its humble height to the narrow door of a country church. Both lead to worship.

There are stairs that please the sense of order as they march carefully to their destinations like precise old women. There are those that ascend in bewildering circles to the tops of tall towers from which great beams of light are sent flaring over the black waters. Still others rush in dizzy twists and turns down the sides of bleak skyscrapers and bear the swift tread of panicky feet when the flicker of creeping scarlet flames threatens the crowds near them.

Every stairway is made with a purpose and leads to some destination.

Lives are like stairways, whether they progress by sure, straight steps or wind, without apparent reason, in tortuous circles.

THOUGHTS FROM A MOUNTAIN PEAK

I climbed up high to view the land I owned,
My land, tilled of my hands, called of my name;
To a high cliff where eternal winds moaned.
Below lay valleys and rivers the same
As they had been thousands of years ago,
When man's eyes first beheld the rising sun
And wondered greatly at its fiery glow.
Far below I saw, where the shadows run
Like a stairway across the hill, a rock
Towering massive and strong above the pines
And seeming by comparison to mock
And make futile and weak these very lines.
So I came down from that land to me loaned,
Wondering why I'd thought it could be owned.

Meet the Echo Annual Staff

During our free periods it is our custom to visit the various activities of the school and to give them a little encouragement and help. So a few weeks ago, having nothing better to do, we ambled up to the annual office one sixth period to see whether we could help the staff in any way.

Upon opening the door we expected to hear the feverish activity of the staff at work; you know, the hum of industry. The staff (which, we must confess, consisted of but one person) was bustling around the room as though very busy. The sponsor was hurrying the one man staff along, trying in vain to get something accomplished.

"Oh, say there," said one of our members for the fourth time, "isn't there anything we can do?" For the fourth time our offer was politely rejected, until we almost imagined that we weren't wanted.

As the period progressed, several members of the staff strolled in, the last arriving a few minutes before the end of the period with an excellent original alibi. As soon as the students came in, Miss Scho-

As one of our many reporters was roaming through the halls the other day he made a startling discovery. He found that Phillip Monypenny, that supposedly fine student, was really radio's famous crooner Ving Columballee. Mr. Columballee's three years' absence had amazed the detectives throughout the country, but due to "The Snoop and Peep" their worries are now over.

Mr. Columballee was discovered in the boy's locker room absent-mindedly crooning to himself a popular tune of three years ago. Our reporter immediately snatched off Mr. Monypenny's red wig, and lo! Here was Mr. Columballee before his very eyes.

When the police arrived, they immediately took charge, and Mr. Columballee could not be reached for a statement.

We wonder who the admirer is who sent Bill Sheppard pansies on the night of the senior play?

Mr. Best's great love for jazz.

Ripe Corn---or What Have You

Her hair that lay along her back
Was yellow like ripe corn.

—DANTE GABRIEL ROSSETTI.

Well, maybe the Blessed Damozel's was, but we think that some of the Webster belles have missed the exact shade. Perhaps their ardor leans toward the dashing Robert Browning, and would fain have him repeat "Why your hair was amber, I shall divine." Even at that I think they put in one pint too much.

I have made an exhaustive statistical hunt, and although I broke my spyglass in the third act, I find that our old Alma Mater has the following decided (last week) blondes.

Whites	2
Reds	9
Very Ripe Corns (or maybe it's popcorns)	31
One Bottle Muddy Waters.....	49.5

By carefully looking over the figures you can see that the One Bottle Muddy Waters have the lead, but they really don't count
'cause they won't admit it, and they usually give it up anyway. It is a lot of trouble. But then, you've heard of the allure of blondes I think it's a sequel to "The Call of the Wild." So the gilt-handled toothpick will go to the Very Ripe Corns.

One of the whites has got that Boll-weevil eaten-cotton effect, which is so smart these days. Of course you've seen Jalden Orden's raving red well, would you call it beauty? Among the leaders of the Very Ripe Corns is Dowager Astor Jones, and a mighty fine job she did of it, too.

Some of the belles don't get very good results, but some of them oh! oh! oh!
And can you blame a little girl for helping out
Mother Nature with a little bottle of dioxygen
. or do you prefer peroxide? We can't all be beautiful.

Now the Faculty will be compelled to tell their classes next year what they did against the seniors two years ago in baseball and basketball, since the teachers did not accomplish much this year.

Answers Your Intimate Problems

Dear Cartha Marr:

I am in a terrible predicament. Another skirt is trying to get my man. She had him once, but gave him up and now she wants him back again. He is a big he-man at Webster High School, but his mind is sorta warped about her, and day by day in every way I feel him slipping out of my grasp. Please answer in a hurry because this is fast burning out my heart. LUTH RICKS.

All I can say is hold on tight, curl your eyelashes, and keep the other damsel out of his sight. CARTHA MARR.

My dear Mrs. Cartha Marr:

I have noticed your sage advice and am writing to you for help in a little matter. I have found me a swell gal, but somehow I don't think she's so wild about me. Every night I sit out in front of her house in my car and honk and honk my horn, but she never comes out to see me. Is there anything wrong in my actions?

PILL BREN.

Pill: I can't understand it. Perhaps your horn is out of tune. CARTHA MARR.

Dear Mrs. Marr:

I am 4 feet 10 inches tall and weigh 152. Need I reduce? No, try cod-liver oil.

School Astonished

The greatest surprise of the school year came when Froebel Gaines displayed a new sweat jacket. This novelty, a bright thing with black and red stripes, supplanted his antique orange and black sweater which we had all loved so much for so many years. In spite of the fact that eyelet effects are in vogue this season, he apparently could not resist the appeal of the jet and scarlet. When we get old and gray we can tell our grandchildren that we were in the good old class of '32, the year when Mr. Gaines in spite of the depression bought himself a new jacket. This fact alone will endear us to our posterity.

WHAT WOULD HAPPEN IF:

Kibby Henry ever failed to make an announcement in assembly.

Virginia Seele or Pauline Hoener ever made as low as A— on a test.

A week passed in which Roy Greene was not kicked out of school.

Charles Burgess forgot his daily "grease" job.

Miss Replogle ever picked a song that the glee clubs enjoyed singing.

There were no benefit shows or annual tax.

Miss Allen welcomed everyone who walked through study hall.

The Echo staff members never tried to get sympathy by telling how hard they worked.

Act the third

Scene: The same corner.

Time: An hour later.

Characters: The same swain. Later, another swain.

Blake: Madam, my patience is at an end. I depart.

Close (entering by the side door): What ya waitin' for, Blake?

Blake: Katherine Jones told me she'd meet me here an hour after school was out.

Close: Well, if I were you, I'd go home and get a little sleep. School isn't out until June the tenth.

(The curtain falls with the firing of two shots.)

THE SNOOP AND PEEP

CLASS WILL

We, as self-appointed representatives of the senior class, being of sound mind and body (we think so anyway), do hereby declare this to be our last will and testament.

We, King Snoop and Queen Peep, do give and bequeath the following, to-wit:

1. To the school in general—Bigger keyholes and transoms.
2. To Mr. Hixson—A tongue-tied student body in assembly.
3. To Mr. Aldrich—One bottle of stacomb.
4. To Mr. Latta—An upper school which will not request the privilege of boring the lower school with announcements.
5. To Miss Replogle—One match, to be used to burn "The Ugly Duckling."
6. To Mr. Best—A boys' glee club that never goes flat.
7. To Miss Allen—Ways and means of collecting fines.
8. To Mr. Lindbloom—One bottle of peroxide.
9. To Miss Woodward—A new volume of "Games for Two".
10. To Mr. McDonald—A new Chevrolet, when his old one wears out.
11. To Mr. Wood—A big attendance at every matinee.
12. To Mr. Winton—A home room that never makes one bit of noise.
13. To M———to be continued and amended in future.

In witness whereof we do hereby set our official seal to this partial document.

Where is that seal anyhow?

KING SNOOP,

QUEEN PEEP.

HELP WANTED

The "Snoop and Peep", following out its long established policy of looking after the needs of the school, feels that some steps should be taken to provide for the vacancies left in the school by the graduation of some of our prominent members and, therefore, offers employment to the following people:

Someone who will take Ruth Jane Verdier's place as official Mildred Bailey and Helen Kane.

Another Burton Messick to make announcements that the Senior Vocational Club will meet on the front steps at 3:00 sharp.

A substitute for Elizabeth Phillips—need we go into detail?

Another Ike Moffett to take the boys' minds (?) off their lessons.

A Bolshevik to follow in Don Ellinger's footsteps.

Someone who can get by with gypping school like—oh, well, after all, why mention names?

Meet the Echo

Annual Staff

wengerdt got them busy making charts of various kinds. After seeing some examples of their work, we can easily see why the members of the annual staff are known as the best chartists in school.

Toward the end of the period the staff scattered to other parts, and no one was present for the final bell. As we made our final adieus to her, the teacher was still gathering up the scattered charts.

Would you like to visit the ECHO staff next year?

WE HAVE HEARD THAT:

Arthur Weigel might graduate next year.

A smoking room will be installed.

Vi Comfort is going to start dating Fred Chenney.

Herman and Miltenberger will stop cutting school June 10.

Fuchs and Close still use the "we gyp 'em" system at bridge.

Chester Mann, that grand old trouper, is going to slay Broadway this season as a juvenile lead. In other towns, Mr. Mann fairly laid the audience out; in fact, they were stretched out, snoring peacefully.
